2022 Healthy Parks Healthy People SA Award Framework

The Healthy Parks Healthy People agenda has been developed and adopted by park agencies around the world to challenge the traditional conservation-based views about park management, and to broaden the role that nature plays in providing social, health and wellbeing outcomes. The South Australian Healthy Parks Healthy People model is delivered through a health and environment agency partnership that reinforces the critical role that nature, and hence parks, can play in improving the health and wellbeing of the South Australian community.

The Healthy Parks Healthy People (HPPH) SA Award was established in 2019 as an initiative of HPPH SA and the Australian Institute of Landscape Architects - SA Chapter (AILA SA) that recognises a built landscape architecture project that best demonstrates the Six Key Principles for Quality Open Space as detailed in the document, "Creating Greener Places for Healthy and Sustainable Communities".

Projects will be eligible for consideration by the Healthy Parks Healthy People SA Award Jury based on the entries captured as part of the 2022 AILA SA Landscape Architecture Awards program – there is no separate entry process or fee. Click here for more details on the AILA SA Landscape Architecture Awards program.

The winner of this award will demonstrate the exceptional application of Six Key Principles for Quality Open Space in the design outcome. This award will be judged against the principles detailed below.

The six principles are:

1. Promote community health and wellbeing
2. Connect with Nature
3. Build stronger communities
4. Deliver connectivity and access for all
5. Contribute to neighbourhood character
6. Support resilient neighbourhoods

The project must be entered into a category of the AILA SA Awards but does not need to win the AILA SA category to be eligible for this award. The Healthy Parks Healthy People Award SA is an AILA SA Chapter Award and not a national category and therefore the winner of this Award will not move forward to the AILA National Awards.
